2.5.1: The Institution adheres to the academic calendar for the conduct of Continuous Internal Evaluation and ensures that it is robust and transparent

The college administers the internal evaluation test in accordance with the standards provided by MUHS Nashik and the Central Council of Indian Medicine. The ongoing internal assessment is carried out in accordance with the university's academic calendar. The examination question paper format closely resembles the format of the university question papers. The question paper has a variety of question styles, including short answer questions and long answer questions. The practical test format closely resembles the MUHS practical exam pattern. Terminal internal assessments are scheduled at the conclusion of each academic session. In order to ensure the seamless administration of internal assessment examinations, a dedicated examination committee is established at the college level. The examination committee guarantees that the examination is conducted in accordance with the Academic calendar, which is a component of the internal assessment planning. The examination schedule is devised by the examination committee in accordance with the parameters stipulated by the institution at the start of the academic year. The Principal has accepted this timetable and it has been subsequently communicated to all the departments. The departmental notice instructs to prepare and deliver the question paper to the Exam committee in a sealed envelope. The envelope should clearly include the batch name, topic name, examination date, and the quantity of question paper copies needed. Question papers obtained from every department are stored in a securely locked container until the test. Question papers enclosed in sealed envelopes are unsealed inside the test hall. The departmental notice board also displays the examination date and curriculum. This aids pupils in strategizing and getting ready for the test. The seating arrangements in the examination hall mirror those of university exams, with vigilant supervision by the personnel. Students are given printed answer booklets that resemble those used in university exams, in order to help them get acquainted with the format of the university assessments. The attendance record for the students taking the examination is compiled in the specified format, accompanied by the signatures of the invigilator and departmental personnel. Examiners who specialize in the area evaluate the answer booklets at the departmental level. Students are presented with evaluated answer booklets that display the overall scores obtained as well as the marks awarded for each individual question. Any inquiries from students about value or totaling are addressed. This helps students in self-assessment of their studies and enhances their success in university exams. Upon seeing the outcome, the student proceeds to sign both the answer book and the result sheet for the topic. Distinct result sheets are created for students enrolled in the old and new courses. The outcomes are shown on the bulletin board. The exam-related records are stored in files that are organized according to the batch and year. The average marks are calculated by combining the scores obtained in the theoretical and practical term-end exams at the conclusion of the term. The marks are transmitted to the Controller of Examinations using an online internal assessment marks submission program supplied by the institution. The physical copies of the findings, which have the signatures of the students, head of department, and principal, are sent to the university.
